The northbound U. P. passenger, on Saturday evening, was derailed and run down an embankment near Sandy and the passengers and all on board badly shaken up. Fortunately no one was seriously hurt, although several cars were wrecked. The cause of the derailment was that the engine struck and killed a horse, while the train was running at the rate of thirty miles an hour.

The Success which Hood's Sarsapa-

THE Provo volunteer firemen have arranged for a series of parties for the coming winter, to be given in the Southworth hall. Prof. Giles has organized an orchestra band and this band is practicing especially for this occasion. The first ball of the series will occur on Thanksgiving night. All are cordially invited to attend.

ONE of the sensations of the current theatrical year will be the holding of "The County Fair" at the opera house, Saturday evening next. The central figure in this play is an elderly spinster, prim, prudish and severely practical, by name Abigail True. Her quaint humor springs from guileless-ness, and her sincere anxiety for the welfare of those about her is touching and amusing. Abigail adopts two waifs, Tim and Fanny, who, she finally discovers, are relatives. Tim has been a jockey and he soon learns that Miss True's colt, Cold Molasses, has speed and trains him for the big race at the county fair. Abigail is threatened with the loss of her farm through foreclosure of a mortgage, but Tim wins the race and purse and so averts the calamity. In one scene is an amusing bee and an old fashioned country dance, but the overwhelming episode is a running horse race. Five flyers are ridden by jockeys at full tilt. The realism and the thrill of this scene are astounding. The sale of seats will be begun on Friday, November 30th.

Cure for Headache.
As a remedy for all forms of headache Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headaches yield to its influence.
We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle, and give this remedy a fair trial. In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cures by giving the needed tone to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine. Try it once. Large bottles only Fifty cents at Smoot Drug Co.

The Steel Range.
The business still goes on. Superintendent Brown of the Wrought Iron Range company of St. Louis, Missouri, is today unloading another full carload of the celebrated Home Comfort Steel Ranges, this makes three full carloads received here at Provo in the last two months. This certainly speaks well for the company and their ranges. Remember that Home Comfort Steel Ranges are manufactured only by the Wrought Iron Range company, and are sold only from the company's own wagons direct by their traveling salesmen.

Home Comfort Ranges are not sold through the trade or by merchants and can only be purchased from the company's wagons. They are the standard ranges of the world and were so recognized at Chicago in 1893 at the world's fair and at San Francisco in 1894, at the mid-winter fair.

COMMISSIONER LEWIS.
A Synopsis of an Excellent Lecture delivered by Him in This City Last Saturday.

In the report of the proceedings of the U. C. T. A., published Saturday, THE DISPATCH was compelled to omit the lecture delivered by Commissioner Lewis. The following is a synopsis of what he said:

"I am highly gratified to meet with this assembly consisting as it does of teachers, trustees, students and the friends of education. I recently visited the town of Deseret, and found that the best building in the town was the school house; that is as I have ways thought it should be in every town. This one is a model of architecture, heating, lighting, and ventilation. There are but three rooms. But the seating capacity is 125, and the registered pupils only 100. When told that the trustees had assumed all financial responsibilities, I said they were patriots. But," said a trustee, "the people said at our backs." "Well then," I replied, "the people are patriots." A little of that kind of patriotism is worth tons of Fourth of July speeches.

The object of the common schools is to prepare children for citizenship.
Man is not in a natural state when his condition is savage, but rather when he is highly cultivated, morally, spiritually, mentally and physically. Help him along this road and show him how to remove the obstacles that present themselves. You are not doing your whole duty when you cram pupils with facts, but you must develop in them the power to collect and assert facts for themselves. A very broad knowledge of human nature is necessary to the teacher who aspires to do his whole duty by his pupils. With all my soul I believe with Prof. Addier, that each individual is, in the economy of nature, perfect in his place. A place could not exist with honor to themselves and profit to the world. It is for us to assist them in beginning the world right, and if we judge by the failures, in professional life, which is nearly 95 per cent, man have become a failure. One of my pupils with whom I was thoroughly discordant at one time, now bids fair to make himself famous as an electrician; his bent of mind was happily discovered before he was spoiled. While we are striving for order and system, and to economize time, money and energy, we must not lose sight of the all potent individuality. We are in some danger of putting our students in at one end of the educational machine, and bringing them out at the other, machine-made citizens. Any system that crushes out individuality would be disastrous to humanity. Teachers should live blameless lives, but even that is not enough. Bob Ingersoll lives a blameless life, but we all believe he will be held in some measure responsible for the destructive influence he has sent abroad. We must not teach religion in the public schools, and that is right. In our class there are Jews, Catholics, Methodists and Mormons, as well as others, and it would not be right for me to teach them doctrine, ceremony or creed; but I can teach them all to love God and truth. If I could not teach my beloved girls this, I would not be a teacher of a commissioner in Utah, but go where I could.
It is a mistake for trustees to require teachers to stand the entire day. I would not give a cent for a teacher who in connection with furniture, and by so doing the "Universal" stoves and ranges success is doubly assured. Call and see their beautiful stock.

most expressive vote of thanks was, perhaps the numbers in attendance, and the distance many had traveled to be present, being from ten to as high as forty miles.
Prof. Giles rendered a beautiful musical selection, and an adjournment was taken.
An informal session was held to give trustees an opportunity to present questions to the commissioner. A suggested plan for the establishment of county high schools was presented, and all present cordially invited to examine the plan and co-operate in perfecting it.
These high schools are intended to fill a gap that now exists between the eighth grade work of the public schools, and real university work. The discussion of this and other matters was interesting, but space will not permit its publication.

At Death's Door
Blood Poisoned After Typhoid Fever
A Marvelous Cure by Hood's Sarsapilla All Else Failed.

Mrs. Phebe L. Hall.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:
"Dear Sirs: Twenty-five years ago I had a bilious fever, and later it turned into typhoid fever, and for five weeks I lay like one dead, but at last I pulled through and got up around. I soon discovered on my left leg just above the knee a small brown spot about as big as a three cent piece, which puffed up but did not hurt me or feel sore. I did not pay any attention to it until two years after, when it commenced to spread and have the appearance of a ring worm.
I tried and burned and I commenced doctoring, but to no avail.
"Got Only Momentary Relief, And sometimes not even that. I could not sleep nights, and on account of the itching I scratched the spot until the blood would run. In hot weather my elbows and all my joints were just the same, and what I have suffered I cannot describe with a pen. Last February I tried an herb for the blood and it broke out in the worst form of a rash all over my body. I began my scratching, and scales would fall off. The sores continued to discharge and I longed to die.
Finally my husband bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and I had not taken more than half of it before I began to change for the better.
I have had four bottles.

Now I Am All Well but two little spots on my leg. I can now sleep and eat well and work all the time. I am 54 years old, and the mother of eleven children, and think I can do as much as any one my age.
My son has also taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for dyspepsia, and has been greatly benefited by it.
I feel very grateful for the benefit I received from Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. PHEBE L.
